Identity Theft Assistance

Will You be a Victim?

According to the US General Accounting Office, Americans spend an average of 175 hours resolving problems caused by identity theft. From writing letters to fighting creditors, identity theft costs time, money and peace-of-mind.

In 2006, over 10 million people became victims of identity theft.

If you have not experienced the frustration of having your identity stolen, odds are you know somebody who has. As the fastest growing white-collar crime in America, the number of identity theft victims will only increase.

A former FTC Director of Consumer Protection stated, “What we’re seeing increasingly is ID theft that occurred because some insider sees information and steals it from a company. It may be an ID list or a customer list. And there’s very little a person can do to prevent that.”

Or a Survivor?

ID Theft Assist is the only true third-party recovery service for ID theft victims.

While many “recovery” programs will tell you what to do, the representatives at our 24-hour / 7 day-a-week Emergency Call Center actually do the recovery work for you.

Highlights of the service include:

- Credit report – unlimited access to your report and score*
- Credit monitoring – daily alerts of credit report changes*
- “Real time” technology – to identify fraudulent accounts
- Contact creditors – to itemize fraudulent account statements
- FTC ID Theft Affidavit – assist with completion and send to creditors
- Provide reporting – notify local authorities and creditors
- Notify fraud departments – direct notification to your creditors
- Credit agency notification – notify all three agencies and obtain credit reports
- Translation services – assist with communication with overseas police
- Provide consulting – to determine best legal action if needed
- Reduce stress and anxiety – Masters-level counselors available 24/7
